Newsletter Reprint Policy

The Vail Homeowners Association allows publications to quote liberally from the Vail Homeowners Association Newsletter, giving attribution only to the publication by name. The content of the newsletter is a collaboration, as such; the author of unattributed items is a collective. The VHA newsletter distinguishes between collective and personal attributions. In the case of written items that have personal attributions, permission to use must be obtained directly from the author. All newsletter images are personal items and individually copyrighted, as such, permission to use must be obtained from the author of the image. The VHA Newsletter editor requests the courtesy of a telephone or email contact informing how a particular item is to be used.
